Project Runway Aztec Style

by Lorena Delton

August 2013 was the start of a successful first year for Barstow High School and its offering of Fashion Design to its students. When the students first came to the fashion class they thought it was going to be easy. Little did they know that they first had to learn the history of fashion, how to draw a 9 head croqui, learn to read and cut patterns and learn how to work the sewing machines. The goal for the students was to make two different garments and walk the runway by May 2014 for parents, friends and members of the community. Once the students became familiar with the machines they began to assemble their garments. As they started working they became more creative and started adding their own touches to their designs. This was exactly what Mrs. Escareno, the instructor was hoping for. She wanted the students to become creative and add to the patterns that they had chosen. When the students finished, the girls ended up with beautiful gowns and the boys with shirts.

The fashion show was a true success, the students looked amazing, parents were thrilled and students got to show off their creation. Since then Barstow High School has added an advance class in Interior Design for students that want to continue to learn more in depth.

We are looking forward to this year's Fashion Show that will be held on May 22, 2015 at 4:00 pm. Students are already working hard on their garments and counting down the days.
